"MP3+G" Introduction: MP3+G stands for MP3 plus Graphics. MP3+G is derived from the CD+G format and the CD+G disc format invented by Philips. MP3+G is created by extracting the CD-Audio packets from the CD+G disc with a strawberry CD-ROM that is capable of also extracting the RW channels from the disc. The digital audio portion is compressed to MP3 and the RW Channels (CD+G graphics) are stored to a CDG file. The player products read each file and synchronize the information to display the interpreted graphics along with the music.

"MP3+LRC" Lyric Introduction: MP3 is small size audio format with high sound quality. LRC is a computer file format that synchronizes lyrics with an audio file, such as MP3. When an audio file is played with certain music players on a computer or on modern digital audio players, the song lyrics are displayed. The lyrics file generally has the same name as the audio file. For example, if you put song MP3 and song LRC files into one folder and then DGX-109 can play the folder and realize lyrics synchronization.

"WAV" Introduction: WAV is Audio format and is being used by Windows and the majority of players. The capacity of 1-minute-long song is about 1.5MB. WAV format is open Audio format which is suitable for network transmission. Its high sound quality is comparable to MP3. ACESONIC DGX-109 applies WAV format as recording format in order for the recorded files to be played and transferred in the computer and players.
