

January 6, 2011 – Las Vegas, NV – Acesonic releases the world's first Blu-Ray Disc Multimedia Karaoke Player at CES Las Vegas 2011.

Acesonic USA, the leading manufacturer in professional sing-along equipment, is in pursuit of the ultimate multimedia entertainment systems for home and professional users and they are debuting the world's first Blu-Ray Disc Multimedia Karaoke Player, the Acesonic BDK-2000. This player will be the center piece of your home's audio and video entertainment in the new decade.

Acesonic's BDK-2000 Blu-Ray Disc Multimedia Karaoke Player is a multi-functional, high definition, networked, multimedia player. It can play all your media from discs, USB drives, local network or internet in HD quality up to 1080p. The Acesonic Blu-Ray Disc Multimedia Karaoke Player includes an HDMI port and it is compatible with the latest audio, video, picture and karaoke formats including MP3, WAV, WMA, MPEG-1, MPEG-2 (MPG/VOB), MPEG-4 (AVI), DivX, MKV, MOV, and M2TS. Additionally, this is the world's first Blu-Ray player that supports RMVB and MP3+G files.

The built-in Blu-Ray Disc Multi-Format Player supports all types of discs such as Blu-Ray discs, DVDs, VCDs, CD+Gs, CDs and data discs. There is no player in the world that can play more types of discs than the Acesonic BDK-2000.

A built-in Ethernet port enables you to enjoy streaming content online via BD-Live. A built-in USB port enables you to play all of your music, pictures or videos stored on your USB drive. For added convenience, the BDK-2000 includes the most commonly used buttons on the front panel so you can easily navigate the player without a remote controller. An optional rack-mount kit enables users to lock their player in any standard 19" rack. A headphone output jack allows you to listen to audio in private without disturbing others. Two microphone inputs let you sing-along or annotate with any audio or video playing on the screen. For serious singers, this player also includes adjustments for microphone bass, microphone treble, microphone volume, microphone echo and a music equalizer to fine tune your performance.

The Acesonic BDK-2000 Blu-Ray Multimedia Karaoke Player is the ultimate player for those seeking the absolute best player to play all of their high-definition content in one machine. Its online streaming and karaoke function makes singing-along with online karaoke in your living room a reality in 2011.
